Jindal School of Government and Public Policy (JSGP) offers India's first Master's Programme in Public Policy (MPP). MPP is interdisciplinary and draws upon multiple disciplines. It is designed to equip students with capacity to grasp contemporary economic, political and social challenges, coherently and comprehensively and to find solutions to persistent problems. Our public policy graduates have mastery over a range of tools and techniques essential for evidence-based policy-making. They are well-versed in monitoring and evaluation methods. They are trained to understand diverse contexts and complexity. They can design policies which are implementable and deliver desired results. They will be an asset to development and policy-related institutions, both within government and in civil society. Think-tanks, policy research institutions, consulting companies, corporate social responsibility initiatives, international organisations and the media must value the unique combination of skills, leadership, imagination, and ethics which JSGP graduates possess. JSGP has an outstanding faculty to equip its students to pursue successful and adventurous careers in many spheres of public life. JSGP has international collaborations befitting a global programme of high quality. JSGP is a member of a select group of public policy schools (including Harvard University, Sciences Po, Oxford University, Central European University, and many others) for participating in the Open Society Foundation's Rights and Governance Internship Programme. JSGP has a dedicated Placement and Career Development Cell which helps its graduates to pursue careers best suited to their skills and aptitude.

The Jindal School of Liberal Arts & Humanities (JSLH) began its first academic session in August 2014. It offers an interdisciplinary under-graduate degree programme leading to the award of B.A. (Hons.). An education in the liberal arts and humanities programme at Jindal School of Liberal Arts and Humanities (JSLH) in collaboration with Rollins College, Florida, is the ideal preparation for an intellect in action. JSLH offers a space for the expansion of young minds in a polyvalent education that mixes the classical and the contemporary in a new framework – the first of its kind in India. Our aim is to break down disciplinary boundaries and redefine what it means to study arts and humanities in an international context. At JSLH, our distinguished faculty aims to create world-class thinkers who are simultaneously innovators. We train students for intellectual mastery, democratic participation, self-expression and advanced life-long learning. Our curriculum has been carefully crafted and has a global orientation. Within this global framework, the B.A. (Hons.) includes an exciting opportunity to solidify Jindal's liberal arts and humanities programme through an extended period of study at Rollins College, Florida, USA, leading to the award of another undergraduate degree from the USA. JSLH seeks to become one of the places that will produce the next generation of leaders to confront our overarching problems.
